

Artistry Muse is a social networking application that allows users to share their art and the inspirations used to create it.

Problem:

The current social networking applications available today do allow the user to document the inspirations that were used in creating their art work. Instead, their focus is more on a single image and a simple title that is often lacking in a description of the piece. The only course of action for a user to take in documenting their work within one of these tools is to essentially reinterpret the tools uses and hope the social community is able to perceive this. Artistry Muse aims to simplify this process.

Proposed Solution:

This app will allow the user to create art projects and submit them to the community with the added benefit of allowing others to see the inspirations behind the work. Users can search for other artists and discover what they have used as the inspirations behind their work.
